

Back-packing with atheists: spelunking evolutionist 2008

schoolchildren singing songs of Science around the campfire: w. m. riley 2/25/08

With guns drawn & battleline revelling, the world of atheists and evolutionists think they have won the Game Ball of all Time defeating the Creationists all around the block. To all onlookers it would appear they have debunked the Bible by flooding the TV with super graphics-loaded space shows and Space Ghost cartoons and scientific-sounding, deep-voiced male narrators like Carl Sagan whom I respect for his tenacity. Actually what they have debunked is not Bible teaching but Bible mis-teachings that have been driven around the block (long enough to get accepted as true teaching)... which is not acceptable since you call it debunking the Bible itself, which you have not done. The only way a person can debunk a Bible teaching is by first knowing what the Bible really teaches. For instance =>

I have a working knowledge of Bible scripture but am not by any means considered to be a Bible scholar, but that is OK since it does not take a Bible scholar to understand the basic teachings of the Bible to begin with. No scholarly studies are required to know what it means to hang three men up side-by-side on a stauros, which was mistranslated as "cross". See what I mean? But using the incorrect word cross did fill early church pews with new plate$donating parishioners who already worshipped using a mystic Tau. Adding a crossmember on a stake or fairly straight tree post made sense then but was money-making extortion not Bible-authorized free. JW's never pass a plate for money. The "torture" Jesus felt was also the blasphemy against his Father in Heaven for assassinating his son. Like the Bible teaching about "hellfire". Did the Saviour Jesus Christ really mean to tell us if we do not believe in him and his Father they would roast us forever over a flaming backyard grill? That would be extremely vindictive and hateful. The Truth is that Bible translators at some point in our past decided to use one English Commons word "hell" to replace 3 Greek words. Fire was the most powerful force known when the Bible was written so the use of the word was to indicate total destruction loss of eternal life, not torture. It does not get any more basic than that. Were the Bible written today it might use nukedtohell. It is no wonder atheists and evolutionists are upset. We should all men and women everywhere be upset at the flood of religious falsehoods that have been forced upon 20 centuries of humans Little House on the Prairie-style, but was basically a movement of politicians to get people motivated. Any time a politician wants something really bad they wave a Bible.

Creation of the Whole Universe did not suddenly happen 6,000 years ago.

Adam and Eve were created 6,000 years ago but only after a lengthy procession of equal time periods during which the vegetation and fish appeared etc. Since Jesus called himself "Lord of the Sabbath" and later gave inspiration to John to write about "the 1,000 year reign of Christ's Kingdom" all anyone needs do is do the Math! 6,000 + the 1,000 just begun = the length of this Creative Day we are in now, which means the previous six Creative Days totalled 42,000 years. And that has absolutely nothing to do with when the Universe was time-unknown created because these 48,000 years was only concerning preparation of this planet, its plants and animals. Man & Woman only were to live forever. Each Creative Day began with an "evening and a morning" that started in darkness but ended in light, which meant the purpose of each day only became clear at the end. In this day we are now in the purpose was to prepare the Earth and fill it with perfect life, but that was changed by an outside force named Satan and Devil. And yet by the end of the 1,000 year reign that ends this last 7,000 year long Creative Day, all those original purposes will be fulfilled. When you guys do peruse the Bible ~after getting tired of all the lies~ you will find the Bible theme was 1600 years consistent from Genesis start to Revelation end. Rock dating assumes a constant amount of solar radiation reaching Earth. Noah? Think about a solid h2o cloud cover, prior reflection rates being different through eons of changing conditions. See the Watchtower Society website to find out all the blessed rest you were lied into missing, then decide 4 the first time, for real.